DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3, 5, 7, 12, 13, 17, 18, 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 2,615,447 to M. J. Cohen.

Cohen shows an applicator for wax and wax like substances as see in Figs. 1-8, a first component disposed in a first compartment 15, a second product disposed in a second compartment 12, a third product disposed in a third compartment 10, a frangible seal is disposed between the first and second compartment as seen in Fig. 2 and 6 where stress is concentrated at the point where compartment 12 and compartment 15 make contact, the device of Cohen provides a temperature modification reaction when pressure is applied on the first, second and third compartments, the third compartment has an exit location 11 or dosing channel for its content that extend beyond the third compartment and its rigid see column 2, lines 49-54.

3. Claims 1-6, 11, 14, 15, 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 4,522,190 to Kuhn et al.

Kuhn shows a flexible electrochemical heater as seen in Figs. 1-10, a first component disposed in a first compartment 16, a second flow able component disposed in a second compartment 24, a third compartment disposed in a third compartment 26, a frangible seal 22, a fold able portion between the first and second compartments for mixing.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 8, 9, 10 and 16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed June 16, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The first, second and third compartments of Cohen are made of a flexible film material. In addition the wall of the first compartment is a breakable and forms a frangible seal between the first and second compartment, as illustrated in Fig. 2, 6 and 7. With respect to the Kuhn reference, the container of Kuhn is formed of sheet material into a pouch contains product in three compartments as seen in Figs. 8-10, both, Cohen and Kuhn show devices intended to be used for temperature modification of a component contained in a one of the compartments by heat generated by a chemical reaction from mixing the products contained in the other two compartments. In response to applicant's argument that Cohen lacks a frangible seal, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 370 F.2d 576, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 312 F.2d 937, 939, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
